National Mental Health Consumer and Carer Forum

The Queensland Mental Health Commission invites interested mental health consumers and carers to apply for the following positions as representatives on the National Mental Health Consumer and Carer Forum:

- Queensland Consumer Representative
- Queensland Carer Representative

Context

The National Mental Health Consumer and Carer Forum (NMHCCF) was established in 2002 by the then Australian Health Ministers Advisory Council Mental Health Standing Committee in recognition of the continued need for mental health consumer and carer involvement at the highest level of policy development. It provides a mechanism for mental health consumers and carers to foster partnerships and to ensure input of consumers and carers into the activities of the mental health sector, including policy, service delivery and evaluation of reform in Australia.

The NMHCCF is auspiced by the Mental Health Australia and is funded through state, territory and Australian Government contributions. The Queensland Mental Health Commission (QMHC) provides annual funding to the NMHCCF ($22,563 in 2016-17) on behalf of Queensland.

It is QMHC's responsibility to ensure a transparent and accountable process for the recruitment of Queensland's representatives.

The NMHCCF Operating Guidelines outline the role and function of the NMHCCF, business rules relevant to its members, and provides guidance on the way in which jurisdictions are expected to collaborate, identify and support representatives. There is no maximum length of tenure for NMHCCF consumer and carer representatives. NMHCCF members are initially appointed for a four year term and then their appointment is reviewed by their nominating state every two years after that.

Representatives are remunerated for formal NMHCCF activities including teleconferences, face to face meetings and identified out of session activities. Sitting fees for members are paid at an hourly rate (currently $85.80) for up to five hours. A daily rate (currently $429) applies to work/meetings that exceed five hours.

The NMHCCF Operating Guidelines, including Terms of Reference for members, can be accessed at: https://nmhccf.org.au/sites/default/files/docs/operating_guidelines_september_2017.pdf

Time commitment for NMHCCF representatives

The NMHCCF usually holds two, one day face-to-face meetings and two teleconferences of several hours duration per year. Face-to-face meetings are often held interstate and will require travel and overnight stays away from home. Travel and accommodation expenses are met by the NMHCCF.

In addition to the formal NMHCCF meetings, activities such as pre-reading, meeting preparation and liaison with your networks will be required. Working group participation is optional.

Representatives who are unable to attend at least one NMHCCF face-to-face or teleconference meeting during any 12 month period will be asked to review their position as a NMHCCF member with the Queensland Mental Health Commission.

Relationship to the Queensland Mental Health Commission

- The QMHC will provide a state contact officer as a point of liaison for Queensland's NMHCCF representatives.
- Regular contact will be maintained between the NMHCCF representatives and the QMHC. NMHCCF representatives will meet with the Queensland Mental Health Commission approximately four weeks before each NMHCCF meeting and approximately four weeks after to maximise the exchange of information.
- To assist in the provision of information to the NMHCCF, representatives are requested to liaise with the state contact officer on any reports relating to state service provision or the work of the QMHC prior to their submission to the NMHCCF.
- Where appropriate the QMHC will aid in the distribution of information or issues arising from each NMHCCF meeting. This may include information being provided to members of the Queensland Mental Health and Drug Advisory Council.

How to apply for the Queensland Consumer and Carer positions
